Convergence culture is a theory which recognizes changing relationships and experiences with new media. Henry Jenkins is accepted by media academics to be the father of the term with his book Convergence Culture: where old and new media collide. It explores the flow of content distributed across various intersections of media, industries and audiences, presenting a back and forth power struggle over the distribution and control of content. Convergence culture is grouped under the larger term of

The concept of convergence is defined as people coming together and uniting around a common goal or shared focus. 1 At Monigle, we believe true cultural effectiveness happens when leadership, employee and consumer beliefs converge with business strategy.

Traduction française d'un classique, bien que publié récemment, de la sociologie des médias. Jenkins montre que la convergence n'est pas qu'un phénomène technique décrivant la réunion de différents médias dans un même appareil (tablette, smart-phone). A partir de multiples exemples concrets, il considère que leur utilisation est devenue un processus collectif impliquant la participation active des consommateurs. Loin d'annoncer la mort des médias traditionnels, Jenkins met à jour l'extraordinaire fertilité à laquelle donne lieu la collaboration avec les nouveaux médias sous l'impulsion des usagers.

"What the future fortunes of [Gramsci's] writings will be, we cannot know. However, his permanence is already sufficiently sure, and justifies the historical study of his international reception. The present collection of studies is an indispensable foundation for this." —Eric Hobsbawm, from the preface Antonio Gramsci is a giant of Marxian thought and one of the world's greatest cultural critics. Antonio A. Santucci is perhaps the world's preeminent Gramsci scholar. Monthly Review Press is proud to publish, for the first time in English, Santucci's masterful intellectual biography of the great Sardinian scholar and revolutionary. Gramscian terms such as "civil society" and "hegemony" are much used in everyday political discourse. Santucci warns us, however, that these words have been appropriated by both radicals and conservatives for contemporary and often self-serving ends that often have nothing to do with Gramsci's purposes in developing them. Rather what we must do, and what Santucci illustrates time and again in his dissection of Gramsci's writings, is absorb Gramsci's methods. These can be summed up as the suspicion of "grand explanatory schemes," the unity of theory and practice, and a focus on the details of everyday life. With respect to the last of these, Joseph Buttigieg says in his Nota: "Gramsci did not set out to explain historical reality armed with some full-fledged concept, such as hegemony; rather, he examined the minutiae of concrete social, economic, cultural, and political relations as they are lived in by individuals in their specific historical circumstances and, gradually, he acquired an increasingly complex understanding of how hegemony operates in many diverse ways and under many aspects within the capillaries of society." The rigor of Santucci's examination of Gramsci's

La cultura de la convergencia cartografía un nuevo territorio en el que los viejos medios y los nuevos se entrecruzan; donde los medios populares chocan con los corporativos; donde el poder del productor mediático y el del consumidor interaccionan de maneras impredecibles. Henry Jenkins, uno de los analistas mediáticos más respetados de Estados Unidos, escarba bajo el despliegue publicitario de los nuevos medios y nos desvela las importantes transformaciones culturales que se están produciendo a medida que los medios convergen. También nos introduce en el mundo secreto de los Aguafiestas de Survivor, en el que ávidos usuarios de Internet comparten sus informaciones para revelar los secretos del programa antes de que éstos se emitan en antena. Nos presenta a jóvenes fans de Harry Potter que escriben sus propios cuentos sobre Hogwarts, mientras los ejecutivos de Warner Brothers luchan por el control de su franquicia. Nos muestra cómo Matrix ha elevado la narración transmediática a una nueva dimensión, creando un mundo de ficción donde los consumidores rastrean fragmentos de la historia a través de múltiples canales mediáticos. Libro premiado en 2007 por la Sociedad para los Estudios Cinematográficos y Mediáticos Katherine Singer Kovács

This volume brings together diverse contributions from leading archaeologists and paleoanthropologists, covering various spatial and temporal periods to distinguish convergent evolution from cultural transmission in order to see if we can discover ancient human populations. With a focus on lithic technology, the book analyzes ancient materials and cultures to systematically explore the theoretical and physical aspects of culture, convergence, and populations in human evolution and prehistory. The book will be of interest to academics, students and researchers in archaeology, paleoanthropology, genetics, and paleontology. The book begins by addressing early prehistory, discussing the convergent evolution of behaviors and the diverse ecological conditions driving the success of different evolutionary paths. Chapters discuss these topics and technology in the context of the Lower Paleolithic/Earlier Stone age and Middle Paleolithic/Middle Stone Age. The book then moves towards a focus on the prehistory of our species over the last 40,000 years. Topics covered include the human evolutionary and dispersal consequences of the Middle-Upper Paleolithic Transition in Western Eurasia. Readers will also learn about the cultural convergences, and divergences, that occurred during the Terminal Pleistocene and Holocene, such as the budding of human societies in the Americas. The book concludes by integrating these various perspectives and theories, and explores different methods of analysis to link technological developments and cultural convergence.

Le projet intellectuel de cet ouvrage est d'abord de revenir sur les significations de la convergence, mot valise et argument rhétorique qui circule à la fois dans les milieux académiques et politico-industriels. Le discours de la convergence, en effet, tantôt se réfère à un vaste mouvement de rapprochement des différentes disciplines scientifiques et des régimes de recherche, tantôt se présente comme un phénomène d'hybridation voire de confusion des techniques rendue possible soit par la numérisation, soit par la manipulation de la matière et du vivant à l'échelle nanométrique. Il se donne à voir comme une interprétation fluctuante (depuis 3 décennies) mais toujours englobante. Comment éviter ces travers, ces méconnaissances et ces approches triviales ? En faisant appel aux ressources des sciences humaines et sociales et en saisissant la question de la convergence à partir d'une série de situations concrètes, tirées de la dynamique et des pratiques à l'oeuvre entre disciplines scientifiques, domaines technologiques et dans leurs liens avec diverses sphères d'activité (enseignement, vulgarisation, art, politiques locales, etc.). L'objectif de cet ouvrage est de questionner l'évidence qui caractérise habituellement les discours sur la convergence. Ces discours mêlent des sens disparates, évolutifs et performatifs, d'où l'idée de jeux de masques. L'évocation du masque, ne vise pas a priori à dénoncer d'éventuelles manipulations, mais entend au contraire aider à comprendre les ressorts du jeu des acteurs en présence, jeux de langage, jeux d'image mais aussi jeux de stratégie, où la construction des discours et la communication occupent une place importante pour donner du sens et façonner des agencements d'acteurs et de leurs activités. De tels jeux sont complexes et multiples, raison pour laquelle nous avons retenu plusieurs terrains d'enquête. Cet ouvrage est issu d'un séminaire tri-annuel où les enquêtes et contributions ont fait l'objet de discussions et de confrontations serrées, l'ouvrage réunit 20 auteurs, membres ou rattachés à 2 laboratoires grenoblois : GRESEC (Sciences de l'Information Communication, Université Stendhal) et PACTE Politique - Organisations (UMR Cnrs).

This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the European Conference on Information Literacy, ECIL 2014, held in Dubrovnik, Croatia, in October 2014. The 93 revised full papers presented together with two keynotes and one invited paper were carefully reviewed and selected from 283 submissions. The papers are organized in topical sections on theoretical framework; related concepts; research; rights and ethics; children; higher education; education and instruction; assessment and evaluation; libraries; different aspects.

The book weaves the story of the complex links between education and its territories. The aim here is to examine the education couple - understood in the broadest sense: school, college, high school, universities - and territory, according to three main axes: the history and the characterization of the different ties maintained And which the school and its territory always maintain; That of the categorization and characterization of the territories in which the school is situated, of the educational policies - both explicit and grassroots - connected with it and their effects on the school; That of recent pedagogical, didactic and organizational innovations. The book is based on French specialists in territorial education issues.

This book constitutes revised selected papers from the 4th European Conference on Information Literacy, ECIL 2016, held in Prague, Czech Republic, in October 2016. The 52 full and 19 short papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 259 submissions. They were organized in topical sections named: inclusive society and democracy; employability and workplace; various literacies; reading preference: print vs electronic; theoretical aspects; higher education; discipline based studies; research methods; children and youth; country based studies; academic libraries; librarians; and teaching methods and instruction.
