This practical, accessible resource will help future and practicing teachers integrate literature into their middle school or high school classrooms, while also addressing content area standards and improving the literacy skills of their students. Two introductory chapters are followed by five chapters that each cover a different genre: Chapter 3, Informational Books; Chapter 4, Fiction; Chapter 5, Biography, Autobiography, and Memoir; Chapter 6, Poetry; and Chapter 7, How-to and Hands-on Books. Each genre chapter consists of four parts: Part 1: Discusses the genre and how content area teachers can use books within that genre to further content learning and enhance literacy skills. Part 2: Offers hands-on instructional strategies and activities using literature, with activities for use in a variety of disciplines. Part 3: Presents individual author studies (three or four per chapter) with bibliographies and guidelines for using the authors' books in content area courses. Part 4: Features an annotated bibliography of specially selected children and young adult literature for that genre, organized by content area. The annotations provide information about the book, which can be used to prepare booktalks, and teaching ideas for using in a specific content area. Altogether these sections contain more than 600 annotated entries tabbed by subject area, including art, English/language arts, languages and culture, math and technology, music, PE/health, science, and social studies/history.

The survival and of many products and companies depend upon the marketing strategies adopted by them. In the rapidly changing scenario of markets, when even propaganda and advertisements are unable to do the magic, it is the dedicated marketing professionals who compel the customer to purchase their goods and services. In today's business strategies, production of goods and services are not the end and means of everything. Neither financial or personnel management, nor inventory or time management are important today. It is Sales Management which has the last laugh over every other aspect of the business. Many a time it has been seen that a better quality product or service has given place to an inferior quality product or service only due to superb marketing management. This book is a path-breaking effort and opens up a new dimension in the field of sales management, which is suitable to the present day needs and requirements. It takes into consideration the different academic aspects of Marketing and Sales Management for undergraduate and postgraduate students. This book would be of great help to managerial practitioners at any organizational level who are responsible for a function, department or a set of responsibilities.
