Students today have exciting career opportunities, but face stiff challenges to materialize them. Time management is the key to success. Those who manage time efficiently will get rewards; those who fail to do so, will face disappointments. Time management does not mean you need to turn into a workaholic. It means efficiently completing your work without stress; and getting more time for other enjoyable and fruitful pursuits. This is a 'work-book'. It is to be put into practice. It explains simple and effective techniques, and offers practical tips for time management. Topics include, 'efficient methods of studies', 'improving memory', 'speed reading' 'taking notes in class' 'time management during examinations'. But apart from a work-book, it is also a highly motivating book. It explains how the practice of time management will not only help students in the immediate context of their studies and examinations, but will also help and enrich them in later life. The deep but practical insights on time management developed by the author from his long and extraordinarily varied teaching experience are succinctly encapsulated and lucidly explained in this remarkable book. A book that every student must possess and read frequently to ensure success, now and in future.

A rich and exciting set of case studies and first-hand accounts from industry professionals bring key debates on the theory and practice of collaboration in contemporary craft up-to-date.

'Hollywood' as a concept applies variously to a particular film style, a factory-based mode of film production, a cartel of powerful media institutions and a national (and increasingly global) 'way of seeing'. It is a complex social, cultural and industrial phenomenon and is arguably the single most important site of cultural production over the past century. This collection brings together journal articles, published essays, book chapters and excerpts which explore Hollywood as a social, economic, industrial, aesthetic and political force, and as a complex historical entity.

This major new collection identifies the critical and theoretical concepts which have been most significant in the study of film and presents a historical and intellectual context for the material examined.

Crosscultural Transgressions offers explorations and critical assessments of research methods and models in translation studies, and points up new questions and directions. Ranging from epistemological questions of description and historiography to the politics of language, including the language of translation research, the book tackles issues of research design and methodology, and goes on to examine the kind of disciplinary knowledge produced in translation studies, who produces it, and whose interests the dominant paradigms serve. The focus is on historical and ideological problems, but the crisis of representation that has affected all the human sciences in recent decades has left its mark. As the essays in this collection explore the transgressive nature of crosscultural representation, whether in translations or in the study of translation, they remain attentive to institutional contexts and develop a self-reflexive stance. They also chart new territory, taking their cue from ethnography, semiotics, sociology and cultural studies, and tackling Meso-American iconic scripts, Bourdieu's constructivism, translation between philosophical paradigms, and the complexities of translation concepts in multicultural societies.
